

Engineered materials are materials that are specifically tailored to exhibit useful and enabling electromagnetic properties.

